

Yurok Tribe starts four broadband projects – fiber to transform connectivity throughout reservation and adjacent communities

YUROK TRIBE
ORICK – Last week, the Yurok Telecommunications Corporation (YTEL) celebrates the official launch of four tribal broadband connectivity projects that dramatically increase Internet access and improve communications infrastructure in one of the most digitally disadvantaged parts of California.

Together, the complementary projects will bring affordable high-speed broadband to more than 2,000 locations, including homes, businesses and anchor institutions, such as schools, healthcare facilities and public safety agencies. Covering approximately 150 square miles, the four broadband connectivity projects span from Orick northward to Crescent City, Orick to Weitchpec and Weitchpec to Wautee, where Internet and cellular services are virtually nonexistent. This monumental undertaking will produce more than 200 local jobs over the next few years.

“These projects are an expression of tribal self-determination and a desire to build the future that our community deserves,” says Joseph L. James, chairman of the Yurok Tribe. “We sincerely thank all of our partners for investing in the Yurok Tribal Council’s vision to provide local families, businesses and future generations the tools they need to prosper.”

Currently, internet access on the reservation is either unavailable or severely limited. These four projects will make high-speed broadband available on the entire reservation and in nearby communities. Many residents within the project area will receive first-time access to internet services.

“Rural communities deserve the same access to opportunity as anywhere else. We are proud to play a part in leveling the playing field when it comes to education, healthcare, and economic growth in Yurok Country,” says YTEL’s CEO Jon Walton.

The first project, funded by the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, includes the installation of 62 miles of fiber optic cable from Crescent City to Orick as well as spurs extending from the main line to Requa and Klamath Glen.

YTEL is also building a brand-new customer service center in Orick to support the community’s telecommunications needs.

To augment the fiber optic backbone, Yurok Telecom is constructing nine towers equipped with commercial-grade wireless infrastructure. The towers will be placed at the following locations: Requa, Klamath Glen, Wautee, Notchko, Orick, two sites in Weitchpec, Miner’s Creek and Tulley Creek.

The second project is the collaborative Karuk Fiber IRU, formerly the Klamath River Rural Broadband Initiative (KRRBI), a Karuk Tribe-led endeavor. The Karuk Fiber IRU consists of the installation of fiber optic cable from Orleans to Orick. The Yurok Tribe and Karuk Tribe will jointly own and manage the broadband infrastructure. The fiber will connect to the Yurok project in Orick.

The third project delivers high-speed internet connections or last-mile fiber directly to households, tribal offices, and medical facilities across the reservation and surrounding area. This transformative undertaking will increase access to telehealth, online learning and much more. For example, on the upper half of the reservation, there are minimal cellular or landline phone services. High-speed Internet will enable residents to place calls over Wi-Fi, ensuring access to emergency services.

2025 Eder Galindo Ramírez Scholarship

Lucy Salazar

PRESIDENT, CUMBRE HUMBOLDT

ARCATA – This year the Eder Galindo Ramírez Memorial Scholarship has been awarded to Dulce Ramos, a 2025 graduate of Arcata High School. Ms. Ramos is on her way to San Jose State University, where she will be studying animation, with the goal of being an animator.

From her application: “Creativity just comes easy to me. Give me a writing prompt and I already have the characters’ name, backstory, goals, and the way they make their cereal in less than a minute. It’s all I ever do, really, create stories full of limitless color until it’s the only thing I think of for weeks. That’s why I want to pursue art when I get to college.”

This Scholarship is in memory of Eder Samir Galindo Ramírez, who passed away from cancer in 2022 at the young age of 15. Eder would have graduated this year from Arcata High School, and so this scholarship was especially meaningful to Eder’s family.

Dulce Ramos exemplifies the same drive and dedication that Eder exemplified during his multiyear struggle with cancer. She is dedicated to her art form of comics and animation, which she has been exploring since 5th grade. We’re very excited to see what she produces in college and afterwards.

Our scholarship was created by Pacific Union School’s District English Learner Advisory Committee, in cooperation with the 501(c)(3) nonprofit, CUMBRE Humboldt. This annual springtime opportunity is open to graduating Latinx seniors who graduated from Pacific Union School and plan to continue their education beyond high school.

Este año, la Beca Conmemorativa Eder Galindo Ramírez se otorgó a Dulce Ramos, graduada de Arcata High School en 2025. La Señorita Ramos cursará estudios en San Jose State University, donde estudiará animación, con el objetivo de ser una animadora. En su solicitud, escribió: “La creatividad me resulta fácil. Si me dan una consigna para escribir, ya tengo el nombre de los personajes, su historia, sus objetivos y la forma en que preparan su cereal en menos de un minuto. Es todo lo que hago, en realidad: crear historias llenas de color infinito hasta que es lo único en lo que pienso durante semanas. Por eso quiero dedicarme al arte cuando llegue a la universidad”.

Esta beca es en memoria de Eder Samir Galindo Ramírez, quien falleció de cáncer en 2022 a la temprana edad de 15 años. Eder se habría graduado este año de Arcata High School, por lo que este año fue especialmente significativo para su familia.

Dulce Ramos ejemplifica el mismo empuje y dedicación que Eder demostró durante su lucha de varios años contra el cáncer. Se dedica a su arte, el cómic y la animación, que ha explorado desde quinto grado. Nos entusiasma mucho ver lo que produce en la universidad y después.

Esta beca fue creada por el Comité Asesor Distrital de Estudiantes de Inglés de la Escuela Pacific Union, en colaboración con la organización sin fines de lucro 501(c)(3), CUMBRE Humboldt. Esta oportunidad anual de primavera está abierta a estudiantes latinos de último año que se graduaron de la Pacific Union School y planean continuar su educación después de la preparatoria.

Arrest after ‘grossly negligent’ firearm use

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE
KNEELAND – On Monday, June 30 at approximately 7 a.m., deputies from the Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office responded to a report of a gunshot victim in the 8000 block of Kneeland Road, Kneeland. Upon arrival, deputies discovered that Ashley Nicole Bartles, age 37, had discharged a firearm while at an unpermitted marijuana cultivation site in the area. The victim, who sustained serious injuries, was promptly transported to a local hospital for medical treatment. Following a thorough investigation, deputies established probable cause to believe that Bartles discharged the firearm in a willful and grossly negligent manner.

She was subsequently arrested and booked into the Humboldt County Correctional Facility on assault with a firearm and negligent discharge of a firearm. Anyone with information about this case or related criminal activity is encouraged to call the Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office at (707) 445-7251 or the Sheriff’s Office Crime Tip line at (707) 268-2539.

lease agreement with Yurok Telecommunications Corporation (YTEL). Under this agreement, YTEL will lease 47 miles of dark middle-mile fiber infrastructure or unused fiber, extending from Orick to Crescent City, enabling the state’s Middle Mile Broadband Network (MMBN) to serve the Yurok community and beyond.

YTEL will retain full ownership of the fiber leased to CDT, creating a new revenue stream for YTEL. YTEL also gains access to lower-cost materials through CDT’s procurement channels, reducing project expenses and increasing sustainability. The collaboration with CDT is a model of government-to-government partnership, showing how Tribal nations can lead in infrastructure development while benefiting from state-level support.

This past year, the YTEL installation team, led by Operations Manager Hunter Myers and Certified Telecommunication Specialist Justin Osburne, acquired all the skills and qualifications required to teach Yurok citizens how to perform tower maintenance and fiber technology deployment.

The CPUC and NTIA-funded projects both have substantial training components, enabling YTEL to aid Yurok citizens in obtaining the certifications necessary to install and sustain fiber systems.

The project will strengthen the tribal and local economies over the long term. Upon completion of the four projects, YTEL will offer cost-effective broadband and interconnection services to residents, businesses, public institutions and other organizations. The corporation will also lease space on the towers for commercial and government telecommunication equipment.

“This broadband connectivity initiative is not only transformational for us — it benefits every local entrepreneur, student and prospective employee in our region,” concluded Chairman James.

Dash and Splash, Barks and Brews, and Joe

I hope everyone survived the Fourth of July with reasonably happy pets! I saw lots of listings on the lost pet sites for dogs that got scared and lost but it appeared that most of them were reunited. Those listings have really made a difference in keeping animals out of the shelters on the Fourth of July and other times. A few dogs came into the shelter over the long weekend but nothing like it used to be before Humboldt Paws Cause and Humboldt Lost and Found Pets.

Next weekend will be lots more fun for our local dogs; Humboldt Dash and Splash is coming to the shelter! Starting Saturday, July 12 Dash and Splash will be set up in front of the shelter and open for business through July 19.

Dash and Splash, also known as dock diving, consists of a big above ground pool and a portable dock. You can come watch experienced dogs fly off the dock and land 20 feet out, or you can bring your own dog to learn the ropes. My dog Baylee is a former dock-diver — she could jump about 10 feet out — but has chosen to retire from diving and now just loves to get in for a swim.

I think it’s worth the fee to let her swim for half an hour in water that does not have blue-green algae. She gets so excited when we drive up and she sees the pool!

You can find the information on hours, reservations, and fees on their Facebook page at Humboldt Dash and Splash.

When the pool is set up at the shelter, we have the opportunity to bring our shelter dogs out and see if they’d like a swim. I’m happy to say that our best swimmers from last year have been adopted, so we’ll see who enjoys it this year. You can be sure you’ll see photos here if we have a great swimmer to promote!

One fun dog that we have at the shelter (who we have no idea about feelings on swimming) is Joe. Joe is known to the volunteers as one of the happiest dogs we get to spend time with. One volunteer described Joe as “a JoyBot.”

Joe is happy going for a walk, happy when he gets to play with toys and throw them up in the air for himself, happy when he gets a bath, happy when he rides in the car, happy to meet other dogs on an outing to a brewery, and happy for the attention from his volunteer friends.

One of his cute tricks is that he offers a Sit Pretty for treats, something we found out by accident when we asked him to Sit. Joe came in to the shelter skinny and missing some fur. He has fattened up some and his hair is growing back, but we would love to see Joe leave the shelter for his forever home where he could fully recover from his previous life.

Joe could be available for foster if a forever home doesn’t pop right up. He is such a fun boy; we know his new family will love him like we do! If you would like to meet Joe, please call the Humboldt County Animal Shelter at (707) 840-9132.

Please mark your calendars for the upcoming Redwood Pals Rescue fundraiser, “Barks and Brews!”

Humboldt Homebrewers will be pouring beers they made, we will have some raffle items, a doggie photo booth, live music, food trucks and adoptable dogs meandering around!

The event will take place at Azalea Hall in Pierson Park from noon to 5 p.m. July 19.

You can also leave a voicemail for us at (707) 633-8842.

housing here otherwise — and that is getting worse,” said Kraft. “We know that the fastest-growing population of first-time homeless people are people over 60 or older adults, and women are the majority of those. And we’re seeing that, you’re probably seeing that in our communities.”

Kraft added that non-profits like Arcata House Partnership are “also being targeted and losing money so we are looking at how we might need to shift what we do to deal with what everyone else is losing.”

On the federal level, a proposed reduction in Older Americans Act funding has been warded off but Kraft said that “doesn’t mean there won’t be cuts.”

Of even more concern is healthcare cuts.

Kraft said cuts to Medicaid/Medi-Cal will have intense consequences and they’ll be felt across-the-board, as “our doctors and all of our professionals are serving all of us — you take out a major funding source in a rural area and you’re going to see big changes that impact the rest of us.”

In addition, cuts to the federal Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, which funds CalFresh, will “devastate our community,” said Kraft.

A significant piece of federal funding for the local Food for People program was cut earlier this year. Kraft said “most of the people using Food for People are children, seniors, or working adults.”

Area 1’s 2024-2025 budget was $3.6 million, through a combination of federal, state, local government and donation funding. Kraft said the 2025-26 budget has dropped to $3 million.

Area 1’s services augment a broader range provided through larger pools of funding that are at risk.

“We’re the icing on the cake, and the cake is healthcare, it’s housing, it’s food,” said Kraft. “If you damage those things in our communities, which is what we’re seeing, you don’t need icing anymore if you don’t have a cake.”

Kraft said Area 1’s services are important “but giving people rides to doctors doesn’t make sense if they don’t have insurance or they don’t have a doctor anymore.”

During a public comment session, former Humboldt County Supervisor Virginia Bass said she’s “the newest member” of the California Senior Legislature, which lobbies for senior services.

She encouraged the board and community groups to work on senior issues with organizations that represent counties and rural counties.

Supervisor Mike Wilson echoed that and motioned to direct the county’s legislative consultants to send a letter to “our membership organizations” to voice concern over the cuts Kraft described.

The board voted unanimously to do that. The letter will also be sent to state and federal legislative representatives.

we have strengthened the Arcata Chamber of Commerce, not just as an organization, but as a true cornerstone of our community.

I am so proud of all we have accomplished to serve our members better. We have built a robust social media presence that tells the stories of our local businesses and shares the spirit of Arcata far beyond our city limits. We’ve expanded events on the Plaza and throughout the city, creating opportunities for connection, celebration, and economic vitality.

We’ve broadened our outreach and deepened our partnerships, including our work with Cal Poly Humboldt, the City of Arcata, and countless local organizations to support business growth and build a stronger, more resilient local economy. Together, we’ve reimaged what the Chamber can be—a resource, an advocate, and a place where members feel seen, supported, and celebrated.

The love I have for our business community and the City of Arcata is immeasurable. I’m excited to continue serving this region as the new Executive Director of the Humboldt Lodging Alliance, where I will have the opportunity to work with partners across Humboldt County to promote sustainable tourism, support local businesses and bring more overnight visitors to our community.

I am confident the Chamber will continue to thrive in the capable and dedicated hands of Gloria, Zach, and our incredible Board of Directors. I look forward to supporting their work as a Chamber member and as a continued advocate for our local business community.

Please feel free to reach out to me in the coming weeks if you have any questions, or simply to stay connected. I’ll look forward to seeing you at mixers, workshops, and community events around town.

Thank you for trusting me with this role. It has truly been one of the greatest honors of my career.

Warmly,
Meredith Matthews

during legacy can be seen locally in the Area 1 Agency on Aging, the Redwood Coast Jazz Festival, the CalPoly Humboldt social work department and numerous non-profit organizations,” the letter says.

Berg was “a tireless advocate for the needs of older adults,” the letter continues, chairing the Assembly Committee on Aging and Long-Term Care and being “an early champion for developing the state’s Master Plan on Aging.”

The letter also notes Berg’s being honored twice as Woman of the Year by state legislators, describing her as “a force advocating for women’s equality.”

Berg was also the recipient of Legislator of the Year awards, which the letter describes as “a testament to her passionate work on behalf of her constituents.”

The bill also notes those achievements, as well as Berg’s sponsorship of “death with dignity” legislation, which didn’t pass but “served as the foundation for future death with dignity legislation that did pass in 2015.”

Supervisors praised Berg’s work and legacy, with Supervisor Natalie Arroyo saying, “What a life and role of leadership she had in our community.”

“She was a spark for sure, whether you were on her side of the issue or the other side,” said Supervisor Mike Wilson. “She was an engaged citizen and legislator and even beyond that has a legacy for women’s rights and for the infrastructure around our elder services, and so I’m just very appreciative of that — and she was just always fun to hang out with too, just a really hilarious person.”

An annual presentation from Area 1 Agency on Aging was on the meeting’s agenda and Maggie Kraft, the agency’s executive director, began it by describing Berg as “my mentor and predecessor” and said “no one since Patty has been able to do the things that Patty accomplished — she always said she only slept four hours a night.”

The bill directs the state’s Department of Transportation to determine the cost of making and erecting signs designating the naming, with “non-state sources” covering it.

HUMBOLDT CRABS

JANINE VOLKMER | UNION

Inside Crusty Crab

Crusty Crab is the much loved mascot for the Crabbies. With a staffer inside the suit created by Ella Zerlang around 2012, Crusty traverses the ball park, posing for pictures with fans and giving crustacean hugs to little kids. Wherever Crusty goes, kids follow.

In order to find out what it is like inside the suit, Crab Gab interviewed two Crusty Crabs: Liz Mengel, known as the short Crusty, and Drew Vizenor, known as the racing Crusty. Mengel has been Crusty “more times than I can count, 9 or 12 this season and five or six times last year.” Vizenor was Crusty “just for the mascot race,” but he won the race easily.

That race resulted in a big upset for the Union’s photographer, Matt Filar, who was flattened by the Arcata High tiger mascot. Mengel, who has years of mascot experience as the McKinleyville High panther, also had a run-in with the testy tiger before the race. She was the panther “twelve times over four years” so she knows how to move inside a costume. “The tiger attacked me,” she said, “and then he ran over Matt.” The attack was a deliberate act of high school rivalry but Mengel thought that the collision with Filar was not on purpose. Mengel said she loves interacting with kids when she is inside the Crusty costume. “Mascots can be kind of scary. I am more playful.” She described “stealing” a child’s baseball cap and putting it on Crusty’s head as a joke. “It gives them something to remember,” she said. “It’s not just a picture opportunity but an interaction with Crusty.” Mengel is studying cell biology and physiology at BYU in Provo. She plans to be a doctor and credits her experience with the Hesi program when she spent time in the operating room at St. Joe’s the summer after her junior year. Vizenor, who won the race by “trying to run straight,” is a student at Chatham University in Pittsburg. He is studying sport management and has a career goal of coaching basketball.

Crabs eye championship

Richard LaPreziosa
MAD RIVER UNION
ARCATA – These are exciting times as the Humboldt Crabs vie for the championship. In the competitive league the Crabs play in, the Pacific Empire League, four teams sit at the top. Although the Crabs lead all the teams in wins, with 22, they sit in second place behind last year’s champions, the Healdsburg Prunepackers. As they head toward the second half of the season, there are plenty of opportunities to either rise in the standings, or fall. And each game is of importance, as I’m sure a league title would be a big win for the Crabs and for Humboldt. The Crabs hosted the Marysville Giants for two mid-week games and won them both. A close one by a score of 5-3 on Tuesday, and a not so close 10-3 victory on Wednesday. Then it was back to league play, as Humboldt hosted the Solano Mudcats for a weekend series at the Arcata Ball Park. Friday’s Fourth of July fireworks display came courtesy of first baseman Houston Hirschhorn, and second baseman Cameron Sewell, who both had three RBIs each as the Crabs took the opener 10-1. And Hirschhorn would continue to be an offensive force on Saturday, driving in three more runs as the Crabs would won yet again, 8-5. The Crabs fell behind early in Sunday’s game, but a six-run seventh inning, including a three-run bomb by catcher Liam Forsyth, would lead them to the 9-5 win, and make playing for the league title seem like a real possibility. But there are a lot of games to win before that happens, starting with the challenge of another road trip. They’re set to go to Medford to face the Rogues, who I’m sure have their own designs on playing in the postseason. They return Friday, July 11 to face the West Coast Kings for three games as they start the last month of the 2025 season. That means four weekends left to solidify their position in the standings, and only four weekends left for you to go cheer them on.

The award recognizes fearless dedication to stagecraft — performances that disrupt the status quo, deepen vital dialogues, and spark both personal and cultural transformations. lection in the 10th Anniversary Zero to Fierce Festival, running Feb. 28 to March 10, 2026.

The first-place winner, Peacock in the Rubble, will receive 100 percent of the profits at the door. This choice was made in support of the artist Marissa Rutka’s commitment to donating 50 percent of her profits to support Atadena fire recovery efforts. In her own words, from the Hollywood Fringe website, here’s what the show is all about.

“Have you ever felt like you weren’t normal? Like everyone else seemed to know a secret to life that you never got wind of? Marissa has struggled with debilitating OCD most of her life. It affected her career, love life, her relationships with others and especially her relationship with herself. It took losing everything in the Eaton Fire for her to finally see that there is beauty in being perfectly imperfect.”

The following are the award nominees who receive a significant portion of door profits and are offered a spot in the Zero to Fierce Festival lineup: Do You Accept These Charges? by Laurie Magers, Medicine Woman by Veronica Osorio, Brick by Brick, by Nina Rancel, and last but certainly not least, The Troll by Rochée Jeffrey.

You can look forward to a chance to enjoy all these amazing shows and more at Zero to Fierce 2026! Information about the festival and its lineup will be published on arcataplayhouse.org so stay tuned.

“From early vendor education to volunteer-powered waste stations, this was our most successful year yet,” said Carly Tambling, director of Bright and Green.

The achievement was made possible by partnerships with Coast Central Credit Union, The Local Worm Guy, PacOut Green Team, Team Indigo, Recology and Hambro Recycling.

Bright and Green also initiated the use of reusable dishware for volunteer meals and continued to integrate young sustainability leaders into the festival team.

The success of this year’s effort highlights what’s possible when Humboldt County comes together for the planet.

OPINION

❖ It's soooo easy to get your letter published in the Mad River Union: First, sign your letter with a real name and a city of origin, plus a phone number (which won't be published) for identity verification. Then, send it to opinion@madriverunion.com, or the physical address listed on page 2. Finally, make paragraphs, spell check, don't double space and don't capitalize random words. Basically, don't use Martian punctuation and everything will be fine.

Don't take all this sitting down, unless it's sitting down to write a letter

Freedom for whom?

On July 4th, 1776, the leaders of the 13 American colonies and their followers declared themselves free from British tyranny.

But this freedom was freedom for the owners, that is, those whose material security is based on their possessions as opposed to the producers, that is, those of us whose material security is based on our ability to produce.

The tyranny we the producers have had to deal with is not that of the British but the tyranny of the owners.

Dealing with that tyranny meant gaining our unalienable rights, as in almost the very first words of the Declaration of Independence, "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

As in:

The right to vote,

The right to just compensation for our work,

The right to form our own organizations,

The right to free speech,
The right to a fair trial.

For over two centuries we have been working and sometimes fighting to get those rights. The result is that, among the producers of the world, those in the United States have the highest standard of living and political power in the history of mankind.

This success is the result not only of the efforts of the producers but also of the efforts and toleration of many of the owners. Periodically however, factions among the owners have tried to destroy the gains of the producers. We are in such a situation now.

As Kamala Harris described it, we are now being attacked by people who want to turn back the clock to the bad old days when the owners alone ran the country.

The main reason for this evil initiative is our weakness, a weakness created by the loss of membership in our unions, by the loss of jobs due to automation, by drug and alcohol abuse, by the wrecking of our educational system.

On the side of hope is the powerful and enthusiastic work of unprecedented numbers of young people during the last election.

The 4th of July is a day for partygoing and other kinds of celebration. But it is also a day for considering the lessons of our past and the needs of our future and what we are going to do about it.

Unworthy

It's ironic that while speaking to the troops at Fort Bragg army base Donald Trump was wearing a hat with an airborne patch. Political commentator Katie Phang got it right when she characterized Trump's Big Beautiful Bill as the "Bless the Billionaires Bill."

Save energy, save money by using federal tax credits before they expire

Earlier this year I took a month-long training course from Rewiring America to become an "electrification coach," a volunteer who advises community members about ways to lower their homes' greenhouse gas emissions.

We learned about the importance of air sealing, the relative unimportance of replacing windows, how to custom size and design heat pump heating systems, and how to add heat pumps, EV chargers and induction stoves to homes with 100 amp service without triggering expensive electrical upgrades.

At the time, we didn't know that federal tax credits to support these home improvements would be cut short by Congress and how quickly the Trump administration would roll back federal and even state climate progress.

Now, when local action is more important than ever, we have only five months left take advantage of these credits, which let each household redirect up to $3,200 of their income tax from supporting ICE and coal to cutting carbon emissions in our homes. In this and a series of future installments I will highlight the most practical and worthwhile ways to use these credits before they're gone.

Heat pump water heaters

Need a new water heater? The federal tax credit combined with a rebate from Redwood Community Action Agency (RCEA) makes a heat pump water heater less expensive than a traditional electric or gas one. There are a variety to choose from, including plug-in models that don't require electrical work.

The savings go beyond the purchase. Owners of electric water heaters can save around $1,500 a year on electric bills by switching to a heat pump water heater. The huge savings come from greater efficiency and the high cost of electricity. While Hawaii has the highest electric rates in the country, PG&E and RCEA rates are even higher.

Traditional electric water heaters produce heat the same way as toaster ovens, by running electricity through a resistance element. Heat pumps don't heat water. They extract heat from the air and only use electricity to move it around, making them three to four times more energy efficient.

While one commonly thinks of switching from gas to electric to cut emissions, the very greenest energy is the energy we don't use, which reduces power plant emissions today and the amount of renewables we must build for tomorrow.

If you have a gas water heater, switching to a heat pump water heater benefits the planet even more. "Natural gas" is eighty percent methane, which warms the planet 86 times more than carbon dioxide. Gas water heaters emit unburned methane in their exhaust well as carbon dioxide. The climate benefit of switching from gas to heat pump water heating is equivalent to planting 219 trees.

Switching from gas or propane to a heat pump water heater can also save the average Humboldt household $50 a month on their electric bill by making them eligible for a special, lower-cost rate plan. More savings can come from programming the water heater to heat water during off-peak hours when the cost is lowest. It will stay hot for 12 hours.

The federal tax credit for heat pump water heaters covers 30 percent of the cost up to $2,000, as long as you owe that much in taxes. RCEA's rebate is $600 to $700 depending on what you are replacing and is open to everyone.

Traditional tank water heaters have an average lifespan of 10 years, but waiting till one dies may not be the best strategy. The tax credit for heat pump water heaters won't be available after December, and the urgent unplanned need for replacement isn't conducive to adopting new technology.

You can tell the age of your water heater from the serial label on its label, which usually includes the year of manufacture.

Not all contractors have experience with heat pump water heaters, and several that I talked to had the impression that many break down after a short time. One guy told me it tends to happen right after their six-year warranty expires.

A CPUC survey of 3,000 homeowners who had installed heat pump water heaters found that their life expectancy was the same as gas water heaters. More than 90 percent of those in place over eight years were still functioning.

The easiest way to find an experienced contractor is the The Switch is On website where you can enter your project information, find local contractors, and submit requests for bids.

If you're interested and want to talk this over with someone, text your friendly neighborhood electrification coach at (707) 845-2466 for a free consultation.

Joe's bike racing, refresh the art gallery, TBAM's 8 concerts coming Trinidad City Manager Joe Tagliaboschi has been on the job only about six months and every day Trinidadians are learning more about his affability, capability and engagement. There is something new to learn about him. Joe is taking on the grueling, 500-mile 52nd Annual Ragbrai bicycle race across Iowa between July 19 and July 26.

Bicycle enthusiasts from 50 states and from all over the world gather for the event and our City Manager will represent Trinidad. He said he expects to stop at some of the towns along the way and meet other city administrators.

The tour starts in Orange City and continues through Milford, Estherville, Forest City, Iowa Falls, Cedar Falls, Oelwein and ends in Guttenberg. The route over paved and gravel roads range from about 33 to 73 miles a day.

It may be a little beyond the scope of a City Council meeting report, but we hope to see photographs and hear stories upon Joe's return. Wishing him a safe and rewarding bicycle tour!

Come to the Cabaret

— written by John

the musical Cabaret

Dell'Arte's Red Light Cabaret is back once again to delight you with a plethora of circus, variety, burlesque, drag and comedy acts.

"This sexy, bawdy, and zany cabaret will keep you coming back for more" stated Cleo DeOrio, director of this year's cabaret.

DeOrio studied at Dell'Arte from 2016-2019 and began teaching as faculty in 2021. Currently she is teaching in Sitka, Alaska while also directing the Red Light Cabaret by hosting meetings with each performer, addressing their performance and making sure it fits into the finished product.

She is collaborating with Dell'Arte Production Managers Tony Fuemmeler and Tisha Sloan to produce the show and make sure all of the performers' technical needs are met.

The show follows the storyline of the famous Copa Cabana, with a quirky, fun-filled Dell'Arte twist. You will get to meet Vinny and his crazy band of characters as they put on a wild and memorable show. Performers for the Cabaret include Sean Lang, William English and Miss Behave (why not? It's Blue Lake).

Red Light Cabaret happens Friday, July 18 and Saturday, July 19 at the Carlo Theater at Dell'Arte. Due to its mature content, this show is for those 18 and over. The doors and bar open at 7:15 p.m. Advance tickets are encouraged and can be purchased at dellarte.com.

City to replace waterlines next week

CITY OF ARCATA

ARCATA – The City of Arcata is notifying the community that the Steel Waterline Replacement Project is set to begin the week of Monday, July 14. This project involves the removal and replacement of aging water infrastructure and service lines throughout town.

Work extents are spread throughout various locations within city limits. Businesses, property owners and tenants will receive a notice on their door 72-hours prior to start of work and “no parking” signs will be posted a minimum of 48 hours prior to start of work.

Temporary water will be provided to affected properties during interruption of service. The City of Arcata has contracted with McCullough Construction for this project.

The first phase of this work will begin along Antoine Avenue, Antoinette Court and Martha Court. In the beginning of August, work is anticipated to begin in the Westwood Subdivision along Wyatt Lane, Stromberg Avenue, Roberts Way and Stewart Avenue.

The city will update the project construction website monthly with upcoming dates and locations of work as the project progresses, which can be found at cityofarcata.org/current-construction.

Construction will take place Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on some days the contractor may extend work hours from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Controlled one-way traffic and temporary road closures will occur during hours of construction, however, efforts will be made to maintain pedestrian access throughout the project.

Limitations to on-street parking accessibility adjacent to work sites are expected.

The community is encouraged to sign up for notifications on the City’s CodeRED page for announcements and notifications of any active construction projects.

If problems are encountered with this project, please contact McCullough Construction at (707) 825-1014 or the City of Arcata Building and Engineering Department at (707) 825-2128.

Talk on removing Eel River Dam

FRIENDS OF THE ARCATA MARSH

ARCATA – On Wednesday, Aug. 6 join Alicia Hamann of Friends of the Eel River for a free presentation titled “Why Eel River Dam Removal Is Urgent.”

Alicia Hamann

Her one-hour talk is part of the First Wednesday Lecture Series sponsored by Friends of the Arcata Marsh (FOAM). The event will be held at the Arcata Marsh Interpretive Center starting at 7 p.m., followed by a Q&A session, and carried live on Zoom at humboldtstate.zoom.us/j/88248246788?pwd=AuQSlOmC4Zwkq4hzWctlzTySkjKujY.1#success

Removal of the two dams in the Eel River headwaters is nearly assured. However, to secure the benefits of dam removal for salmonid recovery, the action needs to happen soon.

This presentation will explore dam safety factors that are both driving momentum for dam removal and also reducing the reliability of Potter Valley Project water supply. It also will cover the range of environmental issues that dam removal will improve or solve, including mercury toxicity, invasive species proliferation, and the incredible hope for revitalization of the southernmost population of summer steelhead on Earth.

Approximately one week after the presentation, its recording will be available on FOAM’s YouTube page.

Artist's Statement
I moved to Humboldt in 1975, attended Cal Poly Humboldt, and for over 35 years taught art in primary and secondary education in schools.

Maureen McGarry
I developed and directed Arcata's Arts in the Afternoon program for at-risk teens for 10 years. I was the lead artist for Art for the Young at Heart, teaching art to seniors during the COVID-19 pandemic. When children came back to classrooms, I returned to teaching art at four elementary schools to English-language learners. I have written and illustrated two self-published children's books. In 2024, I received a grant to attend a month-long artist residency program in Ireland. That same year, I served as a resident artist for Redwood National and State Parks. I paint in watercolors and have shown in numerous venues in Humboldt. I am developing a project to provide self-care art workshops for survivors of sexual assault and hope to return to Ireland to develop another children's book.
